The Office of Public Relations will present a series of forums on emerging issues during the 1984-85 academic year. To quote "The Futurist", June, 1984, "Emerging public issues are frequently preceded by signals in the social and political environment".

The primary purpose of a university is to educate. We are proud to present USD's faculty as authorities on these topics. As educators they invite inquiry and debate on issues which affect our lives.
